ESTABLISHED 1846. NEWPORT, R. I., THURSDAY, MARCH 19, 1914. PRICE TWO CENTS.

THIS IS THE RANGE THAT DID IT

One bundle of wood; one filling of coal and in less than 30 minutes after the fire was started the thermometer in the oven registered 410 degrees. No knowing how much hotter it was, for that was as high as the thermometer would go. Biscuit for breakfast? Sure—20 minutes after the fire started.

A CRAWFORD No Other

Range can boast of such a performance. The reason's plain—a Crawford wastes no heat, but carries all the heat that's made direct to the oven. You haven't a Crawford? Then you don't know what easy cooking means. Haul a hod of coal a day, the right oven at the right moment any time and all the time. You simply fix the damper and the range does the rest. Today's a bully time to christen one.

STATE INSTITUTIONS WOULD SUFFER LOSSES.

Connecticut Protests Against Further Probe Before Senate.

Objects to Dissociation of Sound, Trolley and New Haven Lines.

WASHINGTON, March 19.—Protests by banks, trust companies and Boards of Trade in Connecticut against continued agitation of New Haven affairs were presented to the Senate today by Mr Brandegee of Connecticut The general tenor of the protests was against dissociation of steamship and trolley lines and the New Haven, and against agitation, because of losses to savings banks, trust companies and endowment funds of charitable and educational institutions of the state.

Senator Brandegee said he did not feel at liberty to confer with the Attorney General on behalf of his constituents, because the duty rested with the Attorney General alone to determine whether action should be brought under the Sherman law.

"The directors of the road are entrapped," said the Senator. "As custodians for the stockholders they will be censored if they part with property they are not required under the law to give up If they resist the course of the government they may plunge the property into years of litigation The situation is most embarrassing and fraught with the most tremendous outcome."

The Interstate Commission is taking steps to determine whether further investigation of New Haven railroad financial affairs are to develop information called in a resolution by Senator Norris, which was passed February 7. The resolution seeks to determine what became of New Haven money invested in various enterprises, whether any persons who authorized those investments are liable to punishment, whether any money so invested can be recovered for stockholders, and what laws may be necessary to prevent future transactions of a like character The Senate, however, especially provided that the commission need not duplicate the work of its original investigation.

Some commissioners are of the opinion that the information asked had already been developed, as far as the commission may go, and further inquiry is unnecessary. It has not been determined whether hearings will be held or whether witnesses will be summoned.

Negotiations between the Department of Justice and the New Haven will be resumed tomorrow. It was believed today that they would be final and that a settlement will be reached within a few days

T W Gregory, Jesse Adkins and F. M Swacker of the Department of Justice returned today from New England, where they have been gathering first-hand information about men suggested as trustees for the Connecticut and Rhode Island trolley lines which the New Haven is to give up They declined to comment on their trip, but it was understood that the department and the New Haven were about to agree on the personnel of those boards. That has been a vital point in the efforts to reach a settlement and if it is cleared up little difficulty in arranging other details is expected.

DEBATE TO BE LIMITED.

Repeal Bill to be Taken Up Probably Monday or Tuesday.

WASHINGTON, March 19.—Representatives Shirley and Covington, who with Representatives Adamson and Palmer will lead the administration fight in the House to repeal the Panama tolls exemption, told President Wilson today that the repeal bill would be taken up probably Monday or Tuesday, with a special rule limiting debate They declared that a large majority would vote for it. The Congressmen conferred with the President on certain phases of the Hays-Pauncefote treaty and re-iterated that American battleships would be exempt from tolls and that the United States has complete rights to fortify the canal

WILSON APPROVES RESOLUTION.

Kroonland's Captain and Crew Thanked for Aiding Volturno's Men.

WASHINGTON, March 19.—President Wilson today approved the resolution of Congress conveying thanks to the captain and crew of American steamer Kroonland for the rescue of 89 lives from burning steamer Volturno The officers and men also will receive medals

MRS WILSON BETTER

Recovering from the Effects of a Fall at the White House.

WASHINGTON, March 19.—Mr Woodrow Wilson was well on the road to complete recovery today from the effects of a fall over a rug on the White House floor Officials at the executive office said she would be out again to attend social engagements in a day or two.

White House officials said today that Mrs Wilson had undergone a slight operation to correct the effect of the bruise which resulted from her fall, but they said it was entirely a local one. They denied that social engagements cancelled by members of the family yesterday were on that account.

FIFTY-FOUR YEARS OLD TODAY.

Secretary Bryan Celebrates His Birthday Anniversary.

WASHINGTON, March 19.—Secretary Bryan celebrated his fifty-fourth birthday anniversary today, receiving congratulations of colleagues and friends He had expected to celebrate the event by signing treaties with Brazil, Argentina and Chili, but the conventions were not prepared in time.

MIGHT PROVIDE FOR CASE LIKE THAW'S.

Opposition to Bill Allowing Release of Insane Persons.

Street Railway Men Interested in Anti-Strike Breakers' Bill.

[Special despatch to the News]

PROVIDENCE, March 19.—Five or six hundred motormen and conductors of trolley cars are at the State House today, to appear at a hearing on a bill intended to prevent the running of cars in case of a strike The act calls for the licensing of the men by the state after instruction by a qualified man, but the sticking point is that to secure a license a man must be longer in the state than a strike is likely to last

The Senate had quite a warm setto over an attempt to pass what in debate was declared to be a one-man bill, an act which would, it was alleged, give a man freedom from Butler Asylum where he is confined as the result of an insanity plea after the murder of his wife No names were called but the man is one of such prominence that his name is no secret It was also charged that the passage of the act would permit Harry Thaw to come to the state, be put away as a chronic and quiet insane person and then be boarded at his mother's home in Newport

An act was introduced in the house which would amend the charters of all cities in the state, and give that no member of a city government shall resign the office to which he has been elected to accept a higher salaried position during the term for which he is elected.

In the senate the judiciary committee reported an act increasing fees of medical examiners for viewing bodies from $10 to $20, and an act amending the act on the Board of Soldiers' Relief to so provide that two members shall be veterans of the war with Spain. Calendar

Senator Clarke of Scituate introduced an amendment to the school law which would require that all cities and towns shall keep schools in session for a period of at least 36 weeks Judiciary committee.

From the calendar was taken the act permitting the Board of Control to board out inmates of insane asylums It was re-committed

Several acts relating to specific towns were passed.

In the House Mr. Atwood of Providence introduced an act to prevent city officials using their positions as stepping stones to higher office during the term for which they are originally elected Judiciary committee

The appropriation bill was again taken up and was still under debate at the middle of the afternoon

PROTEST AGAINST NEW PLAN.

Weavers of Montrose Woolen Plant, Woonsocket, Out.

WOONSOCKET March 19.—The weavers of the Montrose Woolen Company, numbering about 50, went on strike today After having a conference with the management, a committee of weavers reported that they would not work under a new plan whereby they were to operate two looms on fancy goods instead of one loom as in the past

"SKATING ON THIN ICE."

Wilson's View of Senator Jones's Talk on Tolls Exemption.

WASHINGTON, March 19.—President Wilson told Senator Jones, Republican, of Washington today, that he was "skating on thin ice" in his speech yesterday, which broadly intimated that the President had not decided to read a message to Congress on the Panama tolls until after Sir Lionel Carden, British minister to Mexico, visited the White House The Senator came to discuss with the President certain regulations of a pending fisheries bill affecting the salmon industry in the Northwest, but Mr. Wilson turned the conversation to the Senator's speech

"The President assures me" said Mr Jones "that there was no basis in fact in the articles referred to to warrant the conclusion with regard to this government and its relations with Great Britain in the matter I think I was misunderstood in that I did not draw the conclusion myself but took them from newspaper reports I think it only just to the President that I make this statement, because I do not want to misrepresent anybody"

The President told callers afterward that he could not get a suggestion on the Mexican question out of Sir Lionel "with a corkscrew" and the conference was purely for information on the general situation in Mexico The President had written his tolls message and decided to deliver it before he saw Sir Lionel Officials said neither the tolls question or any suggestions for future policy in Mexico came up in the talk with Sir Lionel Senator Jones returned to the Capitol and gave the Senate today the President's denial

Senator Jones declared that the incident served to illustrate the necessity for more information on the tolls exemption and again urged his resolution calling upon the President for information as to what government had protested against exemptions for American ships Action was again deferred when Senator Bristow requested that it go over until he could confer with members of the canals committee

OPPOSITION MOVES VOTE OF CENSURE.

Asquith Rejects General Referendum on Home Rule Bill.

Official Denial That Warrants Are Signed for Arrest of Carson.

LONDON, March 19.—Animated debate and the exchange of strong epithets marked the introduction of a vote of censure on the government by Andrew Bonar Law, leader of opposition in the House of Commons today The word "Liar" was hurled at the head of Joseph Devlin, Nationalist member for Belfast, when he declared that Sir Edward Carson, the Ulster Unionist leader, had at one time been a home ruler.

Mr Law's proposition that a referendum of the country should be taken on the home rule bill and the local option proposal for Ulster was rejected by Premier Asquith, who said he believed the government's proposal offered the only hope of lasting settlement

The motion of Mr Law was the results of Premier Asquith's refusal Monday to give details of the scheme of local option by which the nine counties of Ulster would be permitted to vote separately on the question whether they should be left out of the control of the new Irish government

The leader of the opposition offered to give a guarantee that if the government would take a referendum of the United Kingdom on the home rule bill and the local option proposal the Unionists, both in the House of Lords and in the Commons would place no impediment in the way of carrying out the will of the people Sir Edward Carson, the Ulster Unionist leader backed up Mr Law's offer by saying that if the premier was prepared to give him a definite offer of a referendum he would accept its decision

Mr Law contended that the government could avail itself of a referendum without any sacrifice of its principles or dignity He said he did not desire to stand on technicalities If Premier Asquith's proposal that the counties of Ulster should vote on the question of inclusion in the government meant that Ulster was not to be driven from the United Kingdom against her will it would be accepted as a basis of discussion If, however, it meant that at the end of a certain time the people of Ulster were to be brought automatically under the power of the Dublin Parliament against their will the Unionists absolutely rejected it

The opposition leader then made his offer of a guarantee that the Unionists would place no impediment in the way of carrying out the will of the people if the government would take a referendum of the United Kingdom on the home rule bill and the local option proposal for Ulster. He promised that if the results of the referendum were in favor of the bill as amended by Premier Asquith's local option proposal nothing would be done by the Unionists against the putting in operation of the will of the people completely and without delay If Mr Asquith refused the course suggested, said Mr Law, it could only be because the government thought, in the words of Winston Spencer Churchill, that the question should be settled by bullets rather than by votes

Premier Asquith said he would not go further than to say that the government took note of the proposition of referendum. The premier, who spoke only for a few minutes, said the government did not recede from its proposals, under which there would be no coercion of Ulster. The scheme, he said, gave a six years' trial of home rule before there would be any attempt to bring Ulster under its provisions He concluded with an expression of his belief that in the government's proposal lay the only hope of a lasting settlement.

When Sir Edward Carson and Joseph Devlin, Nationalist members for Belfast entered the House the atmosphere became heated Speaking in support of the government, Mr Devlin declared that Sir Edward Carson at one time had been a home ruler

"It is an infamous lie," roared Sir Edward, and when the Speaker suggested a modification of his language Sir Edward substituted for it "The statement is a willful falsehood"

Shouts of protest and cheers in support of both members filled the House and it was some minutes before the Speaker was able to make himself heard in an appeal for the avoidance of personalities

It is officially declared that there is absolutely no truth in the statement made today by the Globe that warrants had been signed for the arrest of Sir Edward Carson and other Unionist leaders

Sir Edward Carson, who was formerly Conservative solicitor general had always been one of the most fiery opponents of home rule for Ireland On several occasions he has stated that the people of Ulster would refuse to recognize a Parliament in Dublin In September last year, in the course of a speech to the Ulster Volunteers, he said "We have the pledges of some of the greatest generals in the British army and they will come over and help us keep the old flag flying when the time arrives

TO QUIT BASKET BALL.

The Aquidnecks' Record Which Earned Title of Junior Champions.

The Aquidnecks have decided to close their basket ball season as the junior champions of the city, and will now compose a base ball team which is expected to make a good record. In basket ball they won all their games by big margins and easily earned the title of junior champions. The team was composed of three members of the Rogers squad, together with two other well known players. It played but five games, scoring 288 points against opponents' 73. The average per game is 58 points, while that of their opponents is but 15. The season's record is as follows:

Aquidneck's 53, American Eagles 20.
Aquidnecks 60, Attleboro High School 6.
Aquidnecks 44, Holy Name 8.
Aquidnecks 76, Glenwood Athletic Club 16.
Aquidnecks 55, Father Mathew Independents 23.

The most notable victory was that over the Attleboro High School, which was supposed to give a return game, but cancelled owing to the strength of the Newport team. Mr. Sullivan, the manager, deserves credit for his enterprise in securing the fastest teams in their class in the city.

For high scorer Diggles and Connolly are tied Diggles secured one more field goal than Connolly, but the latter made this up by shooting two more foul goals. The individual scoring record is as follows:

| | Field Goals | Foul Goals | Total Points. |
|---|---|---|---|
| Diggles | 40 | 1 | 81 |
| Connolly | 39 | 3 | 81 |
| Martin | 24 | 0 | 48 |
| Kenney | 17 | 9 | 34 |

SENIOR MIDDLES DEFEATED

The Glenwoods Put Up Best Game of the Year in Basket Ball.

In a hard contest at St. Mary's hall Wednesday evening the Glenwood Athletic Club defeated the Senior Middles, leaders of the class league at the Rogers High School, by a score of 36-22. The game was featured by the speedy passing and good shooting of the Glenwoods, who put up their best game of the year. The Senior Middles were handicapped by the size of the hall, which prohibits the kind of team work to which they are used, but the Glenwoods showed the better form in shooting, and by covering well succeeded in winning by a comfortable margin.

The game was closely fought in the first half, the Glenwoods taking a slight lead at the finish. The Senior Middles began with a rush and looked as if they would have a runaway victory, as the score was 7-0 in their favor before the Glenwoods rallied. The next seven goals were scored by the Glenwoods, making the count 14-7 in their favor before Arthur Sullivan scored for the Senior Middles on a foul try. Ritt tallied again for the Glenwoods, and the Senior Middles added two more goals, the half ending 16-12 in the Glenwoods' favor.

Arthur Sullivan scored first for the Senior Middles in the second period, but soon the Glenwoods started and from then on the Senior Middles were badly out-played. With the exception of Eagan every man scored two field goals in this period, while Sullivan made all the Senior Middles' 10 points for the half. The line-up and summary:

| Glenwood | | Senior Middles |
|---|---|---|
| Shanteler, r. f. | l. g., | Sullivan, Taylor |
| Reagan, l. f. | r. g., | Gamache |
| D. Sullivan, c. | c., | Taylor, Sullivan |
| Ritt, r. g. | l. f., | Dunn |

Score—Glenwood 36, Senior Middles 22. Goals from floor—D. Sullivan 6, Ritt 4, Reagan 3, Shanteler 3; A. Sullivan 4, Leary 2, Dunn. Goals from foul line—A. Sullivan 8; Ritt, D. Sullivan, Shanteler. Referees—Connolly of Rogers, Kelley of Junior Middles. Umpires—Kelley and Connolly. Scorer—Jemail. Time—20-minute halves.

BATS BREAK RECORDS.

Hawks Invincible in Pocket Billiards, Winning from the Leaders.

By showing great form in bowling the Bats added five points to their lead over the Canes in the Employed Boys' League at the Young Men's Christian Association Wednesday evening and broke two records, high single in bowling and high total. The Hawks still showed themselves invincible in pocket billiards, winning from both Bats and Canes, although both contests were close. The Bats have increased their lead to nearly 50 points over the Canes, who in turn lead the Hawks by nearly 140.

In the first bowling match the Bats defeated the Canes, the victory coming after a close struggle all the way, Sullivan's 91 making it possible by a score of 319-303. The individual scores are as follows: Bats—Sullivan 91, Hull 73, Benevengia 80, Stewart 75, total 319. Canes—Watson 76, Oliver 71, Gerald 82, Dillon 71, total 303.

The high single record was broken by Benevengia of the Bats, who rolled 99. The former record was 97, held by Thompson of the same team, who beat Dillon's record of 96, which stood for a week. The Bats also broke the team record with 340 pins, while the Hawks bowled a poor 266. The individual scores are as follows. Bats—Benevengia 99, Hull 76, Sullivan 80, Stewart 75, total 330. Hawks—Odell 80, Larson 42, Dent 66, Horgan 78, total 266.

It was in pocket billiards that the Hawks showed their form, as they won two matches from the league leaders. In the first, with Dent and Horgan as the wielders, they defeated the Canes, with Dillon and Watson as representatives, by a close score of 25-19. The Hawks held a slight lead until the last frame, where they secured the advantage of a break and ran out. Against the Bats the Hawks were obliged to show even better form, as the Bats held the lead for the greater part of the game, the Hawks again winning in the last frame by a score of 25-20. The Hawks had Dent and Horgan as representatives again, while Thompson and Benevengia composed the Bat team.

TELEPHONE ACHIEVEMENTS.

TELEPHONE SERVICE OF TODAY THE CREATION OF THE BELL CO.

In no line of human endeavor has the inventive brain of the scientist contributed more to the world's progress than by the creation of the art of telephony, of which the Bell system is the embodiment.

When the telephone was born, nothing analogous to telephone service as we now know it existed. There was no tradition to guide, no experience to follow.

The system, the apparatus, the methods—an entire new art had to be created. The art of electrical engineering did not exist. The Bell pioneers, recognizing that success depended upon the highest engineering and technical skill at once organized an experimental and research department which is now directed by a staff of over 550 engineers and scientists, including former professors, post-graduate students, scientific investigators—the graduates of over 70 universities.

From its foundation the company has continuously developed the art. New improvements in telephones, switchboards, lines, cables, have followed one another with remarkable rapidity.

While each successive type of apparatus to the superficial observer suggested similarity, each step in the evolution marked a decided improvement. These changes, this evolution, has not only been continuous, but is continuing. Substantially all of the plant now in use, including telephones, switchboards, cables and wires, has been constructed, renewed or reconstructed in the past 10 years.

Particularly in switchboards have the changes been so radical that installations costing in the aggregate millions have frequently been discarded after only a few years of use.

Since 1877 there have been introduced 53 types and styles of receivers and 73 types and styles of transmitters. Of the 12,000,000 telephone receivers and transmitters owned by the Bell Company January 1, 1914, none were in use prior to 1902, while the average age is less than five years.

Within 10 years we have expended for construction and reconstruction an amount more than equal to the present book value of our entire plant.

Long-distance and underground transmission was the most formidable scientific problem confronting the telephone experts.

The retarding effect of the earth on the telephone current often impaired conversation through one mile underground as much as through 100 miles overhead. Overhead conversation had its distinct limitations.

No possible improvement in the telephone transmitter could of itself solve these difficulties.

The solution was only found in the cumulative effect of improvements, great and small, in telephone, transmitter, line, cable, switchboard, and every other piece of apparatus or plant required in the transmission of speech.

While the limit of commercial overhead talking had increased from strictly local to over 1,000 miles as early as 1893, it was not until 1905 that conversation could be had over long-distance circuits of which as much as 20 miles was in underground cables. By 1906 underground talking distance had increased to 90 miles. By 1912 it was possible to talk underground from New York to Washington.

It was then that the construction of underground conduits from Boston to Washington was determined upon,—not that it was expected to get a through underground talk between those places, but in case of storm or blizzard to utilize intermediate sections in connection with the overhead.

Our persistent study and incessant experimentation have produced results more remarkable still.

We have perfected cables, apparatus and methods that have overcome obstacles heretofore regarded as insuperable both to long-distance overhead and underground conversation.

Underground conversation is now possible between Boston and Washington, four times the length of the longest European underground line. This enabled the Bell System in the recent great storm, so destructive on land and sea, to maintain communication for the public between all the principal points on the Atlantic seaboard.

Telephone communication is established between New York and Denver, is potentially possible between all points in the United States, and by 1915 will be an accomplished fact between New York and San Francisco.

In our use of methods or apparatus, we are committed to no one system. We own, control or have the right to use inventions necessary to operate any system recognized or accepted as the most efficient. The Bell System must always recognize, and in its selection must always be governed by the necessities of a national service, with its complex requirements, which is infinitely more exacting than local or limited service.

These achievements represent vast expenditures of money and immense concentration of effort which have been justified by results of immeasurable benefit to the public. No local company unaided could bear the financial or scientific burden of this work. Such results are possible only through a centralized general staff, avoiding wasteful duplication of effort, working out problems common to all, for the benefit of all.

The pioneers of the Bell System recognized that telephone service as they saw it was in the broadest sense a public utility; that upon them rested a public obligation to give the best possible service at the most reasonable rates consistent with risk, investment and the continued improvement and maintenance of its property.

Without this expenditure of millions and concentration of effort, the telephone art as it exists could not have been developed.

What we have done in working out these great problems in the past should be accepted as a guarantee of what we will do in the future.

POTATO DISEASES.

A General Campaign Needed to Place Industry on Higher Plane

More general and concerted efforts on the part of potato growers are needed to combat certain diseases which threaten to impair the vigor of seed stock and to cause the deterioration of varieties, according to the United States Department of Agriculture's investigator To open the way for more efficient measures of control for potato diseases that have not always been definitely understood a new bulletin is issued entitled 'Potato Wilt, Leaf-Roll, and Related Diseases.'

The bulletin particularly emphasizes the fact that the same system of seed selection and crop rotation that will free the potato fields of wilt, leaf-roll and curly-dwarf, will not only bring under control blackleg and some other diseases but will insure the maintenance of the strains cultivated in their most vigorous condition and free from objectionable mixtures with other varieties.

Losses from the late blight and rot occur mainly in the Northern states This causes particularly heavy losses during cool and humid seasons in the states east of the Mississippi and north of the Ohio this disease is particularly common It is now successfully combatted by spraying with Bordeaux mixture It is also hoped that more disease-resistant varieties will soon aid in controlling this blight To the south early blight and tip-burn play a greater role than the late-blight in injury to the potato crop Early blight is apparently not so common in the cooler and more uniform climate of northern Europe Nor does one find there that tip burn is as common as here, where high summer temperatures combine with the injuries of flea beetles and other insects to cause excessive transpiration and its consequent marginal burning of the leaves Here also the logical line of attack seems to be the production of varieties possessing heat resistance

With the progress of studies of this problem other potato diseases have been recognized in the United States Some of these, like the brown rot had doubtless been long prevalent while others like the blackleg appear to have been recently introduced from Europe

The department's new bulletin contains numerous illustrations of new diseases that are to be feared by potato growers If growers will realize more clearly the danger of the insidious losses suffered because of seldom recognized diseases and from diseases transmitted through the seed they will be more eager to join a general campaign against these troubles The final result will be to place the potato industry on a higher plane than it occupies today

The types of disease distinguished is of some importance in the United States and especially treated in the new bulletin are the following

Fusarium Wilt—A disease characterized by the wilting of the plant Widespread in America but not yet identified from Eurpoe

Verticillium Wilt—A wilt resembling the foregoing, often more rapid Present both in America and Europe

Leaf-Roll—An inheritable disease marked by rolling of the leaves reduced yield, and other symptoms Probably not due to parasite Common in Europe and lately appearing in America.

Curly Dwarf—An inheritable, non parasitic trouble in which dwarfing is a prominent characteristic Found in Europe and America.

Rosette—A stunted or dwarfed condition of the potato associated with injuries of the underground stems and roots caused by a fungus most conspicuous in the western United States

Mosaic—A conditon marked by a mottling and distortion of the foliage Not previously described but present in Europe as well as America.

NAVY RADIO STATIONS.

Appropriation for Construction Asked For by Secretary Daniels

Secretary of the Navy Daniels has sent a letter to Congress asking for an appropriation of $400 000 for the construction of high power radio stations for the navy These are the stations which were authorized in the naval appropriation bill of 1913 Construction has been purposely held back because of the desire of the department to delay the work in order to take advantage of the latest wireless inventions

In submitting estimates for the navy at the beginning of the session the department overlooked the estimate for wireless construction and the submission is therefore necessary now The naval appropriation bill which has been reported from the House committee on naval affairs, will be amended in the Senate to include the $400,000 item

DESCRIBE THE ACCIDENT

outside Sanborn's gateway There was scant room to pass and witness stopped The machine was more on the Bay State track On the ground in front of witness's car were a pocket book and umbrella. The automobile started right off with her, to the hospital just around the corner It showered hard all that morning, but just then was not raining Broadway was oily slippery The tracks in the mud indicated that the automobile had made a very short stop and then skidded

Ernest Lester Parker brother of deceased testified She was 39, and was in charge of the district nursing in Newport The family home was in Walden Nova Scotia (Mr MacLeod was not allowed to ask about her family or what she sent to her family even as a proof of Miss Parker's income and expenses and witness was excused)

Judge Burke presented the divorce case of Eileen Cook vs Charles H Cook personal service on respondent having been made in Narragansett R I The allegations were extreme cruelty and neglect There are two children There was no appearance for respondent

Petitioner deposed that the marriage was in Fall River in February 1900 She then lived in Newport Never knew he had been married until seven years after He said this was his first marriage in applying with petitioner for their marriage license She found that he had a wife and two grown children older than she She learned this at Lafayette at his grandfather's funeral He threatened to kill her if she told of it

He came home drunk and struck her when he learned she had had the baby christened in the Catholic church He went fishing and did not come back to her She went to his father's funeral to have him arrested for non support He said he would kill her She received nothing for months —only about $15 in all The first wife is living Every time he came home drunk he struck her in the face innumerable times and threw her on the stove Then he left her He also acted as if he had used drugs He earned $4 or $5 a day Petitioner has gone out to work and has kept roomers In January in the middle of the night he threw her out of the house They were evicted for not paying rent

Mr Nolan as of the taking of depositions and cross examined Petitioner said she was too young to be married and corresponded for five years Then they were married in Fall River She was about 20 then He his given his age as 40 but he was 41 She did not correspond with another man about a parlor etc Asked as to other letters etc she did not remember She could not say how many letters she received The writer was court martialled by Cook but was acquitted

Another deponent wife of a navy man told of assisting petitioner who was in very needy circumstances She picked up driftwood on the shore for fuel for petitioner who had no shoes or gloves She has conducted herself as a faithful wife Deponent took coal to her and ordered coal sent to her Deponent does not object to a married woman receiving gifts from some other man If a man found a woman naked he would naturally want to put some clothes on her

Another deponent told a similar story of helping the petitioner and family Petitioner came crying one night (early in the morning) saying she had been put out in the street and struck by respondent Deponent's father would like to get hold of Cook who owes him $25

Petitioner's sister deposed in corroboration

Decision for petitioner on grounds of extreme cruelty and neglect to provide with custody of two children

The court adjourned to 9 30 a m Thursday

FANCIES

When the dandelion blossoms ere the spring is well begun
And attempts to give a jaunty imitation of the sun
When a whisper of the summer has replaced the icy sneer
That made us halt and tremble as old Boreas drew near
You're expected to be joyous but you shudder and turn pale
For you have a premonition that the fruit crop's going to fail

There's a soft melodious murmur all along the river's edge
And a hint of far off fragrance in the honeysuckle hedge
But it's just the old old story of the sunshine for a day
That makes the sky seem darker as it turns to stormy gray
And the little bird that twitters as it perches on a rail
Cocks its head and tries to tell us that the fruit crop's going to fail!

A "CURE"? FOR BALDNESS

The above expression is one which is used frequently in connection with hair preparations Just exactly what is meant by it in each instance is a question Baldness is not a disease and hence does not permit of a cure It is a result invariably to be traced to the dandruff germ and if the condition has become chronic that is if there is complete atrophy of the hair follicles a cure is absolutely impossible

Approaching baldness, seen in falling hair, may always be checked and if the hair follicles are not atrophied the hair may be induced again to grow

This is accomplished by regular applications of Newbro's Herpicide which cleanses the scalp and kills the dandruff germ The destruction of the germ does away with the accumulations of scarf skin and thus eliminates the most common enemy to beautiful hair

Soft glossy fluffy hair cannot grow on a scalp infested with dandruff any more than a delicate plant can grow on an ash heap The scalp must be kept clean and free from dandruff The best remedy for doing this is Newbro's Herpicide which receives the highest endorsements from professional men the stage and the best people everywhere

Herpicide is sold and guaranteed in one dollar size bottles by all druggists Applications obtained at all first class barber shops and hair dressing parlors

Address The Herpicide Co Dept R Detroit Mich enclosing 10c in postage or silver for sample and booklet

THE NEWS IN PROVIDENCE
The Daily News is on sale in Providence the evening of publication at Union Station

KEEPING DOWN THE APPROPRIATIONS

The legislature seems to be making a serious attempt to keep down the appropriations this year though it is still too early to venture an opinion as to what the final result will be The finance committee has done considerable in that direction and reported a bill smaller than last years but both branches of the Assembly have yet to pass upon the measure and as for the most part the bill is acted upon item by item there is plenty of opportunity for even radical changes in the amounts and the total It is not expected that the Republicans in either body will try to change the measure in any particular of importance and whatever the Democrats attempt will be as usual in the line of cutting down certain salaries and the amounts allowed for purposes which do not meet their approbation

It would appear therefore that there is a good prospect this year that the appropriations as finally decided upon will be smaller in amount than in 1913 It must be remembered however that the real test of the financial situation as regards the action of the General Assembly comes on the special appropriations These are most to be feared as likely to plunge the state into a condition which will embarrass the general treasurer in his efforts to meet the obligations as they mature What the legislature will do in the matter of special appropriations no one would like predict and can only be known when the session is ended and the members of the body are safe at home again

There is to be the usual fight over the bill by the Democrats or at least over a number of the items As those marked for contest number about 40 it is evident that the Democrats propose if they are permitted to do so to make the regular annual filibuster over this measure The Republicans however are showing signs of a determination to keep the debate within reasonable bounds and to shut off discussion if it becomes too evident that their opponents are merely talking against time This filibuster is a useless procedure entirely and a curtailment will not be unreasonable

DEPOPULATION OF MEXICO

It can surprise no one to learn that in Mexico it is understood that Villa is determined to obtain the presidency If he can crush Huerta he will doubtless seize the supreme power himself instead of turning it over to Carranza

The nominal first chief has been little more than a figurehead from the start In fact his movement when he hardly was in his own state when Villa ... is the pushing aggressive and successful commander in the field Since that time all the fighting reported has been Villa's Carranza has not been doing any so far as we know That Villa should overthrow Huerta and then turn the power over to Carranza would be a departure from every known Mexican precedent

Carranza has some pretensions to be a statesman and a ... Villa is merely a bloodthirsty and brutal bandit who joined Carranza's insurrection in order to secure revenge against a government which tried very properly to punish him for his crimes He has been carrying on his part of the war with ... and plunder He thinks he is a Porfirio Diaz but he is without the ... of that eminent ... despotic statesman

It is appalling to think of him at the head of a nation with any pretensions to civilization Yet it is ... business to save Mexico from Villa and ... the followers of Carranza nor neither the followers of Carranza nor those of Huerta would thank us for attempting it We should have all three factions against us if we intervened Somehow the Mexicans must settle the thing for themselves and the depopulation and devastation of the country must proceed until some military dictator secures power enough to crush his rivals Whether Carranza has power enough to resist Villa and make a division of the insurrection is an interesting question There is not enough information in this country to answer this but Mexico never was in such distressing need of a Porfirio Diaz as it is at this moment

GERMANY'S BIRTH RATE

Twenty or 30 years ago the German birth rate was about double the French French statesmen worried excessively about the future and tried to find some way of remedying the alarming condition while German statesmen looked forward to the not distant day when Germany would have three or four times the population of France and could secure recruits for an army three or four times as large and the French dream of revenge would not survive in France even

Now Germany's birth rate is dropping rapidly and German statesmen are in a state of mind In 1903 it was 36 per 1000 now it is only 24 Between 1902 and 1912 the birth rate in Mannheim decreased one third It fell more than that in Nuremberg and Leipsic and in Stettin decreased about 40 per cent In Berlin and the two suburbs occupied mostly by the rich and fashionable the rate is down to 13

The German area cannot be enlarged what would be the effect of rapidly increasing the population for a long term of years? With the advancing density of population would the present standards of living be maintained? Already the consumption of meat has been considerably reduced by rising prices There are no more worlds to be discovered and if the birth rate were not reduced over population would ensue and the rate is decreasing all over the civilized world

Another consideration is that the death rate is decreasing The progress of medical science and sanitation has decreased it and in all countries where this occurs the birth rate also falls Statesmen and sociologists can not change the results there seems to be a force of nature involved Germany is disturbed over the fact that while her birth rate has fallen nearly to that of France the Russian remains at 40 Infant mortality is much greater in Russia than in Germany and there is also much more room for a growing population Much of Russia is very sparsely inhabited

HOBBY RIDING

Much has been said and written about the habit of riding hobbies and the question has been asked many times if it is a good plan to have a hobby Many persons would immediately answer in the negative giving as a reason that people who have a hobby and ride it often are inclined to make themselves a nuisance to their friends by constantly mounting their hobby to the annoyance of all with whom they come in contact This is of course true of many who have the habit but not of all There are without doubt many who have this habit who do not bring it into prominence or if they chance to do so at any time put it in such an interesting and charming way that the listeners are pleased entertained and benefitted by the knowledge they have gained of what the hobby is and what it means to the one talking about it

Of course there are many different kinds of hobbies some being ridden very hard in the business and others in the social world but as a general thing this habit is contracted more for recreation than for business The hobby outside of one's daily labor is really the best kind and the reason for this can clearly be seen when we realize how much a man or woman confined strictly to business for many hours needs something to tempt to a complete change of thought and action after the day's work is done Having something of interest to which to look forward will keep persons mentally and physically in better condition for both work and pleasure

It is unquestionably a good thing to have a hobby if it is of the right kind and used in the right way for it often lends an interest in things for which one would not have cared if he had not contracted the habit It opens up and broadens his life and makes him a more congenial and entertaining friend and companion to all with whom he comes in contact Even a person who makes himself a bore to his acquaintances by constantly referring to his particular hobby in all places secures an immense amount of good out of the habit ... even if he makes himself obnoxious to others He is a better man for having a hobby for time which otherwise would be wasted is spent in going to good use of occupied in searching out things which will ... spare hours to advantage and with usefulness

It is safe to assume that a person who has a hobby will not worry because he has so much spare time on his hands that he does not know what to do with it for to those who have hobbies there is no time for loafing wishing for something to do to help pass the hours The best sort of hobby is one which will bring pleasure and profit both to one's self and to his friends and not one which will make a person a nuisance to all he meets The right kind rightfully ridden makes better conditions in the life of any one

The federal government does not like the way the Lehigh Valley Railroad Company did its part in carrying out the decision of the Supreme Court in 1911 At that time the company was found guilty of violations of the Sherman anti-trust law and proceeded to dispose of its coal company stocks The government insists that through interlocking stockholderships the old regime is in effect being maintained and a new action has been instituted by the Attorney General This in effect alleges that the re-arrangement of stock holdings were subterfuges and that the railroad company and the coal companies associated with it still constitute an illegal monopoly and act in restraint of interstate trade

Some one in Washington has discovered a section of a river and harbor bill passed in 1884 which may have an effect upon the controversy over Panama Canal tolls This provides that no tolls or operating charges whatsoever shall be levied upon any vessel or vessels dredges or other craft passing through any canal or other work for the improvement of navigation belonging to the United States The law has never been repealed and it is thought that under it the right of the government to charge any tolls whatever for the use of the Panama canal might be successfully disputed in the courts The case was already complicated enough but this discovery makes matters a little worse

Though the New York legislature has passed a bill requiring a uniform telephone rate of not more than five cents to all parts of New York city from the Bronx to Rockaway or between any two points in the metropolis it is doubtful if the legislature of any state has a right to fix rates for any public service which may be in any degree unprofitable to the operating company There is undoubtedly need of some legislation to prevent exorbitant prices but the difficulty lies in finding a mean satisfactory to the companies and the public

A decision of Judge Veeder of the United States district court in Brooklyn gives the Marconi company a practical monopoly of wireless telegraphy in this country the case having been brought for infringement of patents Millions of dollars in royalties hinge on the decision and suit against the United States government may result

Connecticut may have a new political party to be constituted principally of Progressives with Republican tendencies and Taft Republicans who are dissatisfied with the present state machine The new organization is expected to cause as great an upheaval in the politics of Connecticut as did the Roosevelt defection in Chicago with reference to national politics

Inasmuch as there is a navy yard at Portsmouth England at Portsmouth N H and at Portsmouth Va why not have one at Portsmouth R I?

INCREASE IN SAVINGS AND LOANS ASSOCIATIONS

Notwithstanding the general reactionary tendencies the year 1913 was upon the whole the most satisfactory which savings and loan associations of the state of New York have ever experienced says the superintendent of state banking For the first time in 16 years there has been an increase in the number of associations

The total assets of the savings and loans associations at the close of 1913 amounted to $64 949 990 an increase of $4 209 479 The total membership of local associations at the close of the year was 161 880 an increase of 10 8?1 members

GENERAL GRANT IN 1864.

New Commander of the Armies of the Union Cynosure of All Eyes.

Illustration of Difference Between the Officer on Duty and in a Political Community

[Boston Transcript]

General Grant was new to Washington and Washington was almost new to General Grant. He slipped into the capital unannounced March 8 1864 and reported himself to President Lincoln who then saw him for the first time Grant was the cynosure of all eyes and despite his every effort to avoid the experience he was followed and surrounded by crowds Washington was surprised and rather disappointed by the appearance of the new commander of all the armies of the Union In mental make up Grant was every inch the soldier but in his physical aspect there was nothing that indicated his profession. He was always save on very rare occasions in his working clothes an old and much worn uniform that hard service could not spoil

There are some officers who do not take setting up and never carry themselves militarily Grant was of this class In civilian garments he never suggested that he was or had been a soldier As rough and ready as old Zachary Taylor himself he puzzled Washington in March 1864 It knew that he had done great things but he looked like an ordinary man of whom only commonplace performance could be expected There were some observers however who noticed that Grant had a clear eye and penetrating glance but even these seem to have summed up his appearance as that of a man of thought rather than a man of action In the Army of the Potomac there was much speculation as to what manner of man Grant would show himself in an arena new to him and as leader of a host he had never seen

The impression he created when at last he came face to face with the troops he was about to lead against Lee is well set forth by Charles E. Davis in his story of the services of the Thirteenth Massachusetts regiment Grant made a hurried visit to the Army of the Potomac soon after receiving his commission as lieutenant general but the occasion to which the historian refers came later and is described here to complete the statement of the difference between Grant on duty and Grant in a political community to which he was a stranger To quote the historian of the Thirteenth

On the eighth of April we were reviewed by General Grant Our curiosity was very great to see the new commander This review was a new experience to us The absence of red tape was one of its noticeable features We waited in line but a short time when an officer was seen approaching at a gallop completely outstripping the members of his staff who found it impossible to keep pace with him so great was his speed He made a complete circuit of the regiment looking every man square in the face returning our salute as he passed along continuing the same rapid gait to each camp of the brigade until the work was completed It was performed so quickly that we hardly realized it was done His staff came straggling along as best they could on their panting horses to the great amusement of the boys This review afforded a topic of some lively conversation It was so much different from anything we had seen before there was such an air of business about it and so little reaching for adulation that it produced a good effect by inspiring confidence in the new commander

The public wondered if Grant, a Western man accustomed to Western soldiers and the Western country could adapt himself to the new scene of war to which he had been transferred The Western armies had obtained a high degree of esteem in the North and East on account of the many victories they had won There was an impression that generalship in the West had been more energetic than generalship in the East This impression was just fied by events So strong was the popular appreciation of Western soldiership that there were men in the Army of the Potomac who were rather not led by it considering it reflected on the efficiency of themselves and their comrades Lincoln himself quietly took occasion to hint to Grant the existence of a sentiment of this nature among the soldiers he was about to command Grant was too big a man to allow sectional feelings to affect his attitude towards the Army of the Potomac When the ill-luck which had attended his predecessors was mentioned to him by a would-be flatterer he simply said that the previous commanders of the Army of the Potomac had perhaps come too early in the war.

Critics of the Army of the Potomac forgot one very important fact. That army was always pitted against the ablest leaders and the best soldiers of the Confederacy Johnston and Lee were all infinitely superior to Pemberton and Bragg From the first the task of the Army of the Potomac was harder than that of the soldiers who had followed Grant and Sherman in the West up to 1864 Both armies, the Army of the Potomac and that of the West were in reality admirable and Grant did not at all typify what is usually described as a Western man. In fact, his calmness and deliberation were qualities that might have been expected rather of one trained up in the more conservative East.

DANCING AND OPERA.

Both Diversions Featured in New List of Columbia Records.

The closeness with which the big talking machine companies keep in touch with public taste is exemplified in the new recordings contained in the March list of Columbia double disc records The two biggest features are the new dance records and a series of grand opera recordings made in Milan and offered at popular prices The recording companies have linked up so closely to the current passion for dancing that it is not easy to distinguish the relationship—whether the records are promoting the dancing or the dancing promoting the records It is probably six of one and half a dozen of the other

The great majority of the new dance records put up during the last three months are so good that they are having an appreciable effect on the numerous small orchestras and bands in every city which have come to regard the provision of music for house dancing as one of their principal means of income The talking machine record nowadays is clear enough for 200 couples to dance to and invariably it is made with such regard for correct tempo and rhythm as is equalled by few bands and surpassed probably by none The dance records are made under the supervision of dancing authorities of national renown and everything that ingenuity and lavish expenditure can effect has been done to insure their being absolutely authoritative

As to the opera this country has had more this season than at any time in the past That there must be an increase of public interest in this form of entertainment seems inevitable and here again the talking machine companies are demonstrating their close watch on popular taste

The Columbia Company this month list eight double discs with selections from 10 operas The recordings were made in the company's laboratories in Milan under the shadow of famous La Scala the Mecca of every devotee the ambition of every artist the foundation of grand opera itself The artists who have made this new series of records are singing leading roles in La Scala today It is more than likely that at least some of them will appear in this country before long

VALUABLE PAPERS RE-READ

History of Historical Society and Recollections of Former Members.

At a special meeting of the Newport Historical Society Wednesday afternoon two papers on the history of the society, read at a previous meeting, were re-read. Few were present at the previous meeting, because of the blizzard.

Rev. Roderick Terry, D. D., vice president, was in the chair and introduced as the writer of the first paper Miss Edith M. Tilley, the librarian. Sixty years ago, February 14, 1854, the Newport Historical Society received its charter. The records from March 18, 1854, to March 15, 1857, have been lost. During that period Dr. David King the first president, often gave lectures. In 1876 the society was invited to meet in the Redwood Library and two cases were given for its use. In 1881 women were first elected to membership. Miss Tilley gave a list of prominent members of the society and spoke of the purchase of the Sabbatarian Church on Barney street for a home, in 1884. The late Mr. R. Hammett Tilley's services as librarian date from that time. November 23, 1887, the church was moved to its present site on Touro street.

Miss Tilley spoke of her early recollections of the society, of Mr. George H. Richardson's 25 years as corresponding secretary, and of the present building, completed in 1903, the addition having been built in front of the old church. Thanks were extended for her paper and Dr. Terry announced that it would be printed in the next edition of the Bulletin.

The next paper was on personal recollections of former members, and was a delightful essay incapable of reproduction. Among the members characterized were John Callender, Henry Bull, who wrote a story of Newport; Rev. Henry A. Dumont, Rev. Samuel Adam, Rev. Darius Brewer, Rev. Charles T. Brooks, Rev. Dr. J. O. Choules, Rev. Henry Jackson, Rev. Dr. Thatcher Thayer, George Champlin Mason, Prescott Hall, James Birckhead, Duncan Pell, Dr. R. P. Berry, Charles E. Hammett, Jr., Charles Hunter, William S. Nichols, George Bancroft, Dr. H. E. Turner, Samuel Engs, Benjamin Finch, B. B. Howland, Colonel William Gibbs, George H. Calvert, Dr. Theophilus C. Dunn, General J. Alfred Hazard, Captain Bailey, Isaac Peace Hazard, George Bowen, David Buffum, Frank Gilliat, Governor Gibbs, Dr. David King, R. ## LOCAL BRIEFS.

—Mr. H. S. Redmond has gone to New York.

—Mrs. G. M. Kirwin and her daughter, Mrs. Lacy, have gone to New York on a visit.

—Mrs. J. H. Murphy, who was operated upon recently for appendicitis, is able to drive out daily.

—Mrs. Herbret Viall, who has been confined to bed by illness, is slowly improving at her home on Pine street.

—Monitor Ozark has hauled into a slip at the Torpedo Station and now looks like part of the permanent plant.

—Mr. Charles W. Clark, who has been seriously ill at his home on Holland street, was able to be out a little while today.

—Misses A. L. and Olivia S. Ward of Boston, who have been abroad two years, have arrived at the Mason cottage, corner of Gibbs avenue and Champlin street, which they occupied two years ago.

—This morning one of D. E. Young's delivery wagons met with a mishap on West Broadway near Easton's stable. The front axle collapsed, or something similar to that happened, so that the front of the wagon fell to the ground. Though laden with groceries, none were spilled.

—Architect Weaver has the plans for the proposed addition to the Coggeshall School building ready and today Aldermen Hughes and Superintendent Lull looked them over with Mr. Weaver. They were pleased with the manner in which he had prepared them in accordance with their instructions.

—The funeral of Mrs. Martha T., widow of Samuel S. Southwick, took place this afternoon from her late residence on Washington street. Rev. Franklin G. McKeever, D. D., pastor of the Second Baptist Church, conducted the simple service at the house. The burial was in the Old cemetery, there being no bearers.

—Mr. P. S. Durgin, who has been manager of the Newport office of the Postal Telegraph Company since the departure of Mr. L. A. Boone last autumn, will complete his work here this week and go to Worcester next Monday, to take charge of the Postal office there. Mr. J. T. Doran will come from Providence to be manager of the Newport office.

—At 9:50 this morning a still alarm was rung for a chimney fire at the residence of Mrs. M. S. Fludder, 20 Bay View avenue. Some soot had caught fire on a breast and the people in the house were somewhat alarmed, but there was really no danger. The men of Combination 1 attended to the case in their usual thorough manner. There was no loss.

—The northwest storm signal is still flying, this being the second day. The wind has finally reached that quarter and is blowing some, and the thermometer reading is considerably below the mark of Wednesday, but the sun is shining and it feels different. One can easily feel that it is March. The grass is growing in places; the snow has quite generally disappeared, and it is approaching May, but the sun has not yet crossed the line.

—The police station committee held a meeting Wednesday evening to prepare something for the meeting of the Board of Aldermen this evening, so that the work of clearing away the structures on the new site may be begun as soon as possible. The tenant of the tenament is moving today and Mr. J. G. Stevens's new structure on the south side of the wharf is rapidly growing, so that he can move in a few days.

—The sea and wind combined to prevent the New Shoreham from going to Block Island on time today, but it was expected that she would leave later, if the wind subsided some. She has not been to the island since Monday and has a large consignment of oxen for that place; also the islanders have a lot of fish, eggs and other things which they are anxious to ship. Fresh eggs are quoted at 22 cents at the island.

NOT FREE FROM NEGLIGENCE.

Non-Suit Granted in Case Involving Death of Miss Parker.

Case Involving Amount of Compensation for Workman Who Lost Three Fingers.

The case of Buffum, Admr., vs. Smith was resumed before Judge Barrows this morning. Medical evidence was introduced.

Drs. Stewart and Sherman testified. It was admitted that Miss Parker died from injuries received from the automobile. Dr. Sherman found Miss Parker about 10 a. m. in a state of extreme shock, with no perceivable pulse. He was with her until she died, from internal hemorrhage, due to laceration of the liver.

Janet MacLauren, superintendent of nurses at the hospital, testified. Miss Parker had been a year and a half district superintendent of nurses. She received $50 a month, plus $5 a month for car fare, plus board, lodging, etc. Her life was extremely simple, almost frugal. She was entirely well. She showed no signs of deafness, and was of decidedly active mentality; never showed any signs of absent-mindedness.

Grant P. Taylor, treasurer of the Savings Bank of Newport, took the stand with the record of savings deposited by Miss Parker. Mr. Sheffield objected and the court thought savings might come from other sources than earnings—such as rents, dividends on stocks, etc. Mr. MacLeod said there was no evidence of any other income and the bankbook shows the habits of the deceased, a certain basis for determining the net income. The court finally ruled it out, and saved Mr. MacLeod's exception.

Counsel agreed to the admission of standard tables of expectancy of life for a person of 39 years of age. One table said 28 years, another 28.9.

Plaintiff rested.

Mr. Sheffield moved a non-suit, claiming there was no evidence to warrant a verdict; that there is nothing to show Miss Parker was free from negligence and no evidence that the chauffeur was in defendant's employ.

The court said he thought he could save time by saying he would not grant a non-suit on the ground of Smith's non-liability. It is up to Smith to explain.

As to negligence on either side the court was not so certain. Mr. Sheffield repeated the evidence of Mrs. Mathewson, claiming that Miss Parker, with umbrella up, did not look both ways before stepping into the street. The court said, no horn being blown, the defendant was negligent; he would like to hear Mr. MacLeod as to evidence that Miss Parker was not negligent.

Mr. MacLeod said reference to the plat would show. He also cited the Underwood case, where Mr. Bailey did not look before crossing the track, but the motorman did not stop, although he could have done so. Mr. MacLeod said there is no rule requiring a person to look both ways before stepping on a highway; all have an equal right there, and the first to arrive must be looked out for by others. He said the automobile had 65 feet in which to stop; had it been driven with reasonable care she would not have been struck. The driver had no right to expect her to step back and let him pass. The machine should have been stopped in 15 feet; it had at least seven or eight opportunities to stop. Had she seen the automobile she would not be required to make way for it; she did not see it and the "last chance" was up to the chauffeur, who evidently expected Miss Parker to step back.

The court saw no evidence that the driver saw Miss Parker and had opportunity to avoid striking her. There is no evidence that Miss Parker was free from negligence. Mrs. Mathewson saw the machine and stepped back and saw an accident was inevitable. Miss Parker stepped into the street with an umbrella close down over her head.

Non-suit was granted, and plaintiff's exception was noted. The case will probably now go to the supreme court.

The case of Roland E. Arter vs. Timothy P. Sullivan et al. was set for trial, June 3, and the jurors were discharged.

Judge Burke presented the matter of Michael Masser vs. Bourne Mills on an action under the workmen's compensation law. Plaintiff had three fingers on the left hand caught in the picker and they were amputated. The question is as to what amount of money plaintiff shall receive.

Plaintiff had been earning at the Bourne Mills $7.30 a week. Before that, in another mill, he received $12 a week. Now at the Bourne mills, he receives $6.20 a week. It was disputed by Mr. Baker, for defendant, that $12 was earned at the other (King Philip) mills. An affidavit from the bookkeeper of the King Philip was shown, but Judge Burke claimed there was a mistake in the number of hours a day worked. Mr. Baker claimed that 54 hours a week is all the Massachusetts law allows, and some question of over-time was raised, Judge Burke claiming that time was reckoned "double" owing to the severity of the work in the King Philip Mills. The question was whether it was "double time" or "over-time." Mr. Baker said Judge Tanner has decided that he would make no allowance for "over-time"; "full time" is the basis of computation.

Mr. Baker said he was uncertain as to whether the case comes under sub-head a or sub-head b. "Why not c?" asked Judge Burke. Mr. Baker rather settled on b, and Judge Burke chose c. They figured a while and Judge Burke said he alleged plaintiff earned $7.30 a week, and the latter earned $7.30 a week, and the other side admitted that he earned $7.65. Plaintiff had worked at three different occupations—picker, tender, yard man and boiler room man.

Plaintiff testified, through an interpreter. He works at the Bourne Mills and was injured there December 4, 1912, while an employe in the picker room, at $7.30 a week, having been there a little more than a month. He produced clear evidence—a hand with only one finger and a thumb left. He now receives $6.20 at the Bourne Mills. He was three years at the King Philip, in yard and boiler room, at the same time, working from 6:45 to 10 a. m., carrying coal; he went home to rest until 11. Then he worked in the yard one hour, carrying cotton and bags. From 1 to 4:30 he worked in the yard. He went home until 5:15, when he went to the boiler room until 6:30 or 7, taking cinders from the boiler room. For the whole he received $2.11 a day. There was taken from his weekly pay $1.36 for house rent by the King Philip Mill.

He lived in Tuscany before coming to America. He has father, mother and sisters there, and desires to go back there, soon, to stay. He is staying only to have this matter settled, and desires to be paid a lump sum.

In cross-examination he said there were quite a number of weeks in summer when he did not work in the boiler room, but in the yard.

The court and counsel wrestled with the pay problem, the court reading 13.76 cents per hour, and 14.7 cents per hour, from the schedule. Witness said he could not add and subtract, he calculated his pay in his mind. It was decided to be hopeless to ask witness about the pay. He has a wife.

Joe Des Jardins took the stand and said he worked a year with plaintiff, on the same job, with about the same hours. Each took a turn of a week in and a week off, in the boiler room. The rent is subtracted from the pay before it is handed to the men. He received $12.77, less the $1.35 rent—$11.42 a week.

SON STILL VERY ILL.

Mr. William P. uffum Arrives Too Late to Testify in Parker Case.

Mr. William P. Buffum arrived on the 1 o'clock train from Boston today, to attend the case in the superior court brought by him as administrator against Robert W. Smith, where he was expected to be a principal witness, but only to find that he was too late, as the case had been thrown out of court.

Mr. Buffum returned this afternoon to Boston, where his son, Dr. William P. Buffum, Jr., is very ill with scarlet fever. The father said the condition of his son was precarious. He had almost passed the danger zone of the disease when last Tuesday, convulsions set in, and he has been practically unconscious ever since. Today there is some hope of recovery.

PONDS RUNNING OVER.

Breaking Ice Indicates Beginning of End of a Tough Winter.

The rainfall during the late wet spell seems to have been smaller than most thought, as .66 was all the Water Works gauge showed. The water supply is still running in, and running out, as the ponds are as full as the Water Works cares to have them at this time, the north pond being a foot down and the south pond nine inches down. This gives room for the wind to play, and it does blow some.

The ice is breaking up on the pond and it looks like the beginning of the end of a tough winter. There had been skating on the ponds until the end of last week, but since then the skaters have not ventured on the ice. Out of town the Gardner and Paradise ponds at the second beach and the Sisson pond at Union street are running over, but St. Mary's Lake is still considerable below the high water mark.

STOLEN FROM POSTOFFICE.

Papers Needed by Mrs. Oelrichs and Mrs. Vanderbilt.

The effect of a postoffice robbery in Aiken, S. C., on a supreme court trial in New York was disclosed when Bowers & Sands, attorneys for Mrs. Hermann Oelrichs and Mrs. William K. Vanderbilt, Jr., secured a delay of 50 days in filing a new answer in a suit against them for $13,000,000. The suit was brought by the relatives of Mrs. Charles L. Fair, wife of the brother of Mrs. Oelrichs and Mrs. Vanderbilt, who was killed with him in an automobile accident, to recover Mrs. Fair's share of her husband's estate. Counsel for the defense told Justice Newburger that important documents needed for the preparation of the answer had been stolen when the Aiken postoffice was robbed.

ROGERS HIGH SCHOOL NOTES.

Manager William G. Sweeney of the Rogers basket ball team is in receipt of a letter from the chairman of the school committee in Holliston, commending the action taken by Rogers in serveing athletic relations with the Technical High school of Fall River. The letter was written voluntarily, and praises Rogers for its clean playing against Holliston, in contrast with Technical's playing in the same city.

Head master F. E. Thompson of Rogers received a letter this morning from Principal Dooley of the Technical High School of Fall River, in which the latter requests that for the good of both schools all newspaper correspondence cease.

It has been suggested that the championship Rogers basket ball team play an exhibition game to close its season. The old Naval Reserve team has been named as opponents, and there is a strong probability that the contst will be played.

THAW CASE EXPENSES.

Large Fee for Jerome and Other Attorneys Sought in New York Senate.

A bill has been introduced in the New York senate, intended to appropriate $43,615 to pay the expenses of attorneys, officials and others in the proceedings to effect the return of Harry K. Thaw to Matteawan. The bill was introduced at the request of Attorney General Carmody, who submitted a full report of the case and an itemized expense account.

The largest single amount asked is $25 000 as a fee for William T. Jerome's services as a special deputy. The amounts asked for other attorneys are as follows: Bernard Jacobs, Lancaster, N. H., $5,000; Jacobs, Hall, Couture & Fitch, Montreal, $5,000; Hector Verret, Coaticook, $1,500; Th. Chase Casgrain, Montreal, $1,000; Jacob Nicol, Sherbrooke, Quebec, $900.

IN SMALL POX CASE.

Lack of Precautions in Quarantine of Crew Censured by "Taxpayer."

To the Editor of the Daily News:

Dear Sir: There are some features connected with the case of small pox discovered in our harbor on Monday which tend to give a feeling of uneasiness to one interested in the general welfare and health of Newport. According to report in your paper, the case was discovered in the early afternoon, about 3 o'clock, and the first physician was so firmly convinced of its seriousness that he immediately called others into consultation and there was no hesitation about pronouncing it a genuine case of small pox. Nevertheless, it was not until 7:30 in the evening that the Board of Health was notified that the case had been discovered and in the meantime the members of the crew were allowed to move freely about the streets of the city, to visit the stores in that section to do their shopping, and to mingle freely with the people of the city, absolutely devoid of restraint.

It seems to me that such conditions call for the most severe censure. Had notification been made to the Board of Health immediately the crew would have been placed in strict quarantine and the people of Newport would have been as free from danger as if the vessel had never come in here. Under the present circumstances it is possible that the results may be serious. But, whether serious or not, it seems to me that a great burden of blame rests on the responsible parties who failed to notify the proper authorities of existing conditions. It is for just this purpose that the Board of Health exists, and it is and should be a safeguard to the health of our city.

Taxpayer.

ANTI-TRUST LEGISLATION.

Rocks Ahead in Possible Exemption of Labor and Farm Organizations!

Parties Divided by Parcel Post Law—Humphrey's Glowing Word Picture of the Flag

(Washington correspondence of the News)

WASHINGTON, March 18—There are rocks ahead for the trust legislation which is being urged by the administration

"Just wait until these trust bills get in the House," remarked Congressman Fitzgerald of New York, "and some one offers an amendment exempting labor unions and farm organizations from the provisions Then what becomes of the trust legislation, as about all of us are going to vote for that proposition? Then along will come the sundry civil bill, just as it has in the past two Congresses, and the labor people will insist that no part of the money appropriated for the department shall be used in prosecuting labor unions That has been up in the last two appropriation bills, and it will undoubtedly go into the next one

The attitude of many members of Congress makes it sure that the exemption of labor unions and farm organizations from operations of the trust acts are to go into one of the anti-trust bills President Wilson has expressed himself as opposed to any discrimination of that kind, and the administration bills which were presented to Congress did not contain these provisions

About the only way in which a discrimination in favor of labor unions could be presented is a resort to the Democratic caucus with pledges enough in advance secured through the efforts of the administration to prevent the amendment from being inserted Of course the measure could be debated at great length in the Senate and possibly the provisions which the administration opposes could be eliminated At the same time the labor unions are strong in the present Congress and it looks as if they are going to have their way

The parties are all split up in the Senate on the parcel post question, but the majority rallied to the support of Postmaster General Burleson Democrats of the conservative and radical type differed with one another as did the Republicans The only apparent party alignment was that of the determination of the Democrats to sustain the administration, for the fight against the present method of conducting the parcel post was strong

Everybody supposed that Congressman Humphreys of Washington was a straight, hard headed legislator legislator without any frills of any kind but a recent speech published in the Record shows that he can do something in word painting It was about the flag, and this is what he said

The flag of our country' How fitting the colors' The red, the passionate red of the queenly rose blushing beneath the amorous kisses of the wooing sun The red the sacred red of the heart's blood of the hero that stains the field of battle as he dies in defense of home and country The white the perfect white of the unsunned snow The white, the pure white of the beautiful lily with its golden heart of fire The blue the beautiful blue in woman's eyes, in the eyes of the one we love The blue, the true blue of the infinite Heavens that arch above us With stars as stainless as those that shine in the fathomless abyss of a cloudless night This is your flag and my flag

That's going some but as if to outdo himself the Washington Congressman put in some verse

Senator Clark of Wyoming was telling a story about the parcel post and said 'All of us out in our country know that every working man has his roll of blankets that he calls his bed and bedding In many places there are no hotels His home is where night overtakes him It surprised the Senators because few were aware that there was still in existence a class of men who carried their bed and bedding But there are still sections of the West where a man moves his household effects in one great roll

A man from Alabama was telling something about the way Hobson conducts his campaign In many towns he does not get any advertising or any notice of public meetings He goes in and hires a wagon and drives about until he attracts the attention of somebody even if it is one man and then says My friend I will just talk to you a little while

It is not long said the man from Alabama before Hobson has the whole town out listening to him I do not know how the election will come out but Hobson is making a wonderful campaign'

During discussion of the postoffice bill Senator Weeks hinted that the commission which has been investigating the rate of railway mail pay is likely to report that the railroads are not paid enough especially since the new parcel post law went into effect

NEW YORKERS CONCERNED

Mackerel Trust in Process of Formation in Norway and Sweden.

NEW YORK March 19—Handlers in this city are concerned over advices that have received from Norway and Sweden that a mackerel trust is in process of formation there The two largest firms exporting this fish which finds a heavy market in this country, have agreed to merge into one corporation and have made an offer to the combined fishermen to handle the entire output on a commission basis Better prices are promised the fishermen but the latter have not yet agreed to the terms offered Conferences are still under way in which both the government of Norway and Sweden have taken a hand.

A MASTER OF THE GAME.

Duke of Manchester Pays High Tribute to Gould's Playing.

PHILADELPHIA, March 19—"The most wonderful court tennis match I have ever seen, and I do not think any player that ever lived could have beaten Jay Gould in the form he displayed against Covey," was the tribute paid by the Duke of Manchester last night after Gould had wrested the world's open championship from the English professional. "It is now my dearest wish that I can match my professional punch Fairs, from whom Covey won his title, against Mr Gould for the world's championship he now holds" added the duke "Of course Covey has the first chance to challenge Mr Gould, but it is my hope to be able to get Covey to consent to a match with Fairs within the next six months then if Fairs wins, as I am sure he would, Mr Gould, I believe, would be willing to give Fairs a chance at his title

"Mr Gould is a most extraordinary player His game against Covey was phenomenal If he had a weak point I did not discover it He is a master of the game and fully deserved the victory America is to be congratulated upon having won another world's championship"

The duke, who is himself a high-class court tennis player witnessed the entire eight sets between Gould and Covey Gould's playing in the four sets yesterday was fully up to that of the first day The British champion fought hard to the very end, taking the third set of the day and the seventh of the match in fine style When victory finally rested with Gould the defeated champion congratulated him

According to the articles of the match the winner is exempt from playing for the world's championship for one year

Being an amateur, Gould cannot take the $1 250 prize money which would have gone to Covey had he won, but instead will receive a cup valued at that amount from the Racquet Club of Philadelphia on whose court the match was played

CHILD BROKE OUT ALL OVER BODY

When Two Weeks Old, First Pimples, Then Rash. Began to Break Out on Face. Suffered Terribly. Cuticura Soap and Ointment Cured.

52 Elm St St Albans Vt — "My baby girl was only two weeks old when she began to break out all over her body first with pimples then they would spread into a rash which would take the skin all off I used home treatment but she steadily grew worse By that time her body was completely covered with sores even to her feet and it was beginning to break out on her face She became nothing but a mass of sores all over her little body and suffered terribly

So in despair I wrote for a sample of Cuticura Soap and Ointment and from the first it began to get better rapidly I then bought but one cake of Cuticura Soap and one box of Cuticura Ointment In a few days I noted a great change for the better and in a month's time she was completely cured (signed) Mrs W L Owen Nov 5 1912

Not only are Cuticura Soap and Ointment most valuable in the treatment of eczemas and other distressing eruptions of skin and scalp but no other emollients do so much for pimples blackheads red rough skins itching scaly scalps dandruff dry thin and falling hair chapped hands and shapeless nails nor do they do so economically Sold by druggists and dealers throughout the world Liberal sample of each mailed free with 32 p Skin Book Address post card Cuticura Dept T Boston

ANOTHER CHANGE IN THE FRENCH CABINET.

Minister of Marine Monis Presents His Resignation.

Mme. Caillaux Still the Object of Deep Popular Sympathy.

PARIS, March 19.—Mme. Caillaux's assassination of Gaston Calmette, editor of the Figaro, resulted today in another change of the French cabinet, Ernest Monis, minister of marine, adding his resignation to that of Jos Caillaux, minister of finance. M. Monis's action was caused by statements made in the Chamber of Deputies that while he was premier he had exerted powerful influence on the public prosecutor, Victor Fabre, to postpone the trial of Henri Rochette who was alleged to have swindled the public out of sums estimated at $40,000,000 by fraudulent company promotions. Rochette disappeared while on bail.

A meeting of the cabinet council accepted the resignation and for the present Albert F. Lebrun, minister of the colonies, will act also as minister of marine.

Mme. Caillaux is still the object of deep popular sympathy and crowds took advantage of the mid-Lenten holiday to gather at the gates of St. Lazare prison, where she is in custody.

In the central districts of Paris, as well as in the more turbulent quarters on the south side of the Seine, the police had taken every precaution to prevent political demonstrations. The residence of M. Caillaux was strongly guarded, as also were the offices of the Figaro, the senate and the Chamber of Deputies.

SANCTIONED BY CARRANZA.

Simultaneous Attack on Torreon and Mazatlan Predicted.

JUAREZ, March 19.—A simultaneous attack by rebels on Torreon and Mazatlan was predicted in advices received today. It was said that while General Villa's army was moving against Torreon forces under General Alvara Obregon would assault Mazatlan. Obregon was reported to be moving 12,000 troops against the Pacific coast port. This was said to be part of a general plan for an aggressive movement against all Federal forces in northern Mexico.

The fall of Mazatlan, it was said, would mean virtual control of the west coast, while the capture of Torreon, the railroad centre of central Mexico, would threaten the capital. If the rebels capture these two points, both armies would, it is said, move against Guadalajara, which is the strategic key to the south.

It was said that the movement against Torreon and Mazatlan had received the sanction of General Carranza, ... now marching overland into Chihuahua.

The ban on news from the interior remained firm today. Indirect information indicated that there had been no fighting of consequence during the last few days.

TO PATROL THE BORDER.

Two Battalions of the Ninth, from Fort Thomas, Under Orders.

CINCINNATI, Ohio, March 19.—Two battalions of the Ninth Infantry regiment, U. S. A., Colonel Crane commanding, comprising 690 men and 25 officers will leave Fort Thomas, Ky., late today for Laredo, Texas, where they will take up the duty of patrolling the Mexican border.

FOR BORDER DUTY.

Four Companies of the Ninth Infantry Leave for Laredo.

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., March 19.—Four companies of the Ninth United States infantry, stationed at Fort Logan, left here today for Laredo, Texas, where they will report for border duty. The detachment numbers 300 privates and officers.

MIDDLETOWN.

Paradise Club Entertained—Birthday Surprise at Methodist Supper.

[Regular correspondence of the News]

The Paradise Club was entertained Wednesday by its secretary, Mrs. Edward J. Peckham, on Paradise avenue. The subject, "The Underground Life of the Big Cities," was presented by Mrs. John Nicholson in a series of articles on the subways, underground flats and apartment stores and the new Grand Central station in New York. These were taken from the Popular Mechanics Magazine. Light refreshments were served. There was a good attendance. The vice president, Mrs. F. de M. Bertram, will act as hostess for the next meeting, the members being requested to bring favorite recipes, including samples of cooking.

There was a good attendance Wednesday at the semi-monthly supper given at the Methodist Episcopal Church by the members of the Ladies' Aid. An extra touch was given the occasion by the presence on the central table of two birthday cakes bearing candles, one a specially large and handsome confection, a surprise gift to the wife of the pastor, Mrs. F. E. Wells, and a small cake for her seven-year son, Gordon. Mrs. Wells was also presented with a large 10-inch pot of hyacinths bearing 12 blooms and a bouquet of cut flowers, in remembrance of the day. Following the supper there was a social with general singing, and a cabinet business meeting of the Epworth League. It was voted to hold the annual egg supper at the church April 7.

Lenten services are being held on alternate weeks in St. Mary's parish at Holy Cross, Middletown, and St. Mary's, Portsmouth, by the rector, Rev. F. W. Goodman. The service this week was at Holy Cross and was held Wednesday.

Rev. Latta Griswold of the Berkeley Memorial Chapel was the Lenten preacher today at Christ Church, Norwich, Conn.

Mr. William Clarence Peckham of Prospect avenue, who has been spending the past month at Eustis, Fla., returned home Tuesday.

OFFICE WELL CONDUCTED.

Harrison's Administration in the Philippines Endorsed.

BOSTON, March 19.—The administration of Francis Burton Harrison as governor general of the Philippines is endorsed in a letter to him recently adopted by the Anti-Imperialist League and made public today by Secretary Irving Winslow. The latter said the league realizes that the opposition to the promised Philippine independence comes from certain commercial and journalistic interests. It follows in part:

"But as citizens of the United States, we feel that we are at liberty to express the opinions of a large group of like-minded persons who have admiringly appreciated the success of your difficult and responsible administration of affairs. * * *

"You have conducted your high office, however, with calmness and dignity, but with an inflexible purpose to carry out the instructions of the executive, while the succession of events has entirely justified your action and contradicted calumnies set afloat even before they had time to receive currency. We believe that with us you are looking towards the executive promotion of the course being pursued toward the Philippines, which is soon to follow.

"We are confident that you have engraved your name deeply upon the hearts of the Filipinos, and that it will be preserved as that of him who had done the largest practical part in carrying on its fulfilment one of the greatest acts of national atonement and restitution recorded in history."

JAMESTOWN.

[Regular correspondence of the News.]

Mrs Rose L. Gibson has declined the nomination for school committee on the Republican ticket and the town's committee have filled the vacancy, Mrs. Amanda L. Knowles being the new nominee for the position.

Samuel Smith, who has bought of A. M. Bailey, the property on the north side of Narragansett avenue, known as the Carr estate, it is understood will tear down or remove the old buildings thereon, which will greatly improve the locality.

Mr. Ernest Littlefield has been called to Block Island by the sudden death of his father, Captain Littlefield, of the life saving service.

C. E. Weeden has rented for the estate of T. C. Potter the furnished cottage on the Dumplings, known as "Road House," to Mrs. W. Hawkins of Pittsburgh for the season of 1914.

The two-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Matoes, Jr., died Wednesday afternoon from pneumonia after an illness of only a few days.

The work of installing the new fire alarm system has been commenced.

Tugs Narragansett and Buccaneer are tied up at Ferry wharf for harbor.

Barge Irene has completed discharging coal for the ferry company.

WHO WILL BE YOUR EXECUTOR?

ANSWER NO. 4.

The administration of your estate will be more thoroughly supervised and better safeguarded if a Trust Company is appointed as your executor.

SUPERVISION AND SAFEGUARD

There is no supervision of the acts of an individual acting as executor or trustee—no safeguards against temptations.

In many known instances, the personal property in an estate has been used by an individual to pledge as security for loans, or otherwise for his own personal advantage.

A Trust Company is under the constant supervision of the Bank Commissioner, who causes frequent examinations of securities and audits of accounts.

Personal property in an estate is safeguarded in an individual safe in deposit vaults annd cannot be controlled by one person only.

It is handled only when necessary for purposes of examination and the collection of interest and always by two or more persons.

ANSWER NO. 5 WILL APPEAR IN THE 25th MARCH ISSUE OF THIS NEWSPAPER.

NEW YORK, March 19, Wall Street—The market opened with, Amalgamated Copper 75⅛, American Car Foundry 51½, American Smelting Rfg 69¼, Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe 97¼, Baltimore & Ohio 89½, Brooklyn Rapid Transit 92⅝, Canadian Pacific 206¾, Central Leather 34¾, Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul 98¾, Erie 28⅞, Great Northern Preferred 127¼, Missouri Pacific 24, New York Central 91, Northern Pacific 112½, Pennsylvania 111, Reading 164, Rock Island Pfd 6½, Southern Pacific 94⅛, Southern Railway 25¼, Union Pacific 157⅝, United States Steel 64⅝, United States steel preferred 110, Western Union 63½, Westinghouse Electric 76¾.

10:45—Lehigh Valley reacted sharply from yesterday's decline at the opening today, in spite of the filing of the anti-trust suit against the company. The stock was in active demand and rose a point on the first few transactions. The market as a whole showed few changes of consequence at the outset, but there was a firm undertone. The supply of stocks at the opening range was small, and traders who put out short lines yesterday bid for stocks, causing the list to advance. Smelters rose 1.

Noon—Steadiness of the early market and the absence of outside selling orders, despite the injection of new unfavorable influences into the speculative situation, prompted operations for the long account and prices were advanced. The government's suit against Lehigh Valley appeared to have been discounted in yesterday's decline and the Anthracite stocks betrayed no weakness. Reports from the steel trade told of decreasing new orders and the possibility of contraction of operations in some mills. These reports were partially offset by the favorite character of United States Steel annual statement. The demand for stocks was not heavy, but at noon the general level showed a fractional improvement. Bonds were irregular. Call money, steady, at 2. Mercantile paper, 4 and 4¼. Exchanges, $268,916,928; balances, $14,148,158.

IMPERSONATED ANOTHER.

Woman Under Arrest for Securing Marriage License for a Friend.

The police have arrested Hattie Belmore Craig Hattie Smith alias Hattie Gilkin of Fall River on a charge of falsely impersonating another and giving false information to a public official The arrest brings out an entirely new story A young girl named Alfreda Guimond came here last week and Saturday her mother and sister came and took her home to Fall River Tuesday evening she was married here by Rev Mr Crane to a sailor named Albert E Evans of the Training Station The parties had the required license from the city clerk's office and everything seemed proper and right

The girl's mother in Fall River knew that she did not take out the license for she was in Fall River and an investigation by the police led to the arrest of the Belmore woman who is 17 years old for impersonating the Guimond girl and securing the license The two were taken to the city clerk's office Wednesday afternoon and an attempt was made to cover up the matter by the Guimond girl wearing the same clothes the other had worn when she applied for the license It was a failure

Another thing is the misstatements made in obtaining the license The application stated that the girl is a resident of Newport while both belong in Fall River It is the first offense under the new law for the licensing of marriage and the result will be watched with interest.

The police again had no business for the court this morning

CAPRON HOME BURNED.

Snow, Hail, Rain, Sleet and Thunder in Northern Rhode Island

The northern part of Rhode Island had snow hail rain sleet and a thunder storm Wednesday while the southern sections had only rain and that not of a serious character

The thunderstorm was most severe throughout the northwestern part of the state where the home of the late Congressman Adin B Capron at Stillwater was struck and burned to the ground during the severe electrical disturbance Several pieces of valuable antique furniture was the only property saved Mrs Capron and her daughter Miss Helen M Capron who were in the house at the time escaped without injury The bolt entered through the chimney and the house was ablaze quickly afterward

The house a 2 story structure was a landmark in Rhode Island being erected more than 200 years ago The building was doomed from the first owing to the absence of fire fighting apparatus in that village Neighbors succeeded in saving a shed and garage in the rear of the house

The storm broke at Scituate and lasted half an hour moving in a southeasterly direction over the Pawtuxet valley and Warwick Providence caught the edge of the storm one flash of lightning being observed followed by a clap of thunder At Chepachet and Greenville the storm was severe Workmen on the new Chepachet trolley line were forced to quit for a time because of the lightning

THE GARY SCHOOL IDEA.

Experiment in Religious Education for Children of All Denominations.

Rev Mr Hughes Calls Attention to Opportunity Given Pastors to Influence Growing Life

To the Editor of the Daily News

Sir It may interest your readers at this juncture to see the following account of an experiment in education now being made in the city of Gary Ind The article was written by the Rev Dr Bradner well known in Rhode Island

Curiously enough it appears that the move for religious education was made not by clergymen but by the superintendent of the public schools No credit is allowed in the school authorities for work done at the churches Nor do the school authorities review the curriculum arranged by the pastor of each church In this the Gary plan differs from the one I have seen in operation in Nova Scotia

Gary and Newport are I suppose about as different as two cities in the United States could be Yet the efforts to bring about a desired result in the one place may nevertheless serve to suggest some practicable mode of action to earnest people living in the other

Stanley Carnaghan Hughes

Newport R I March 18 1914

Gary is the fortunate possessor of a constructive educationalist as superintendent of public schools William Wirt whose name has become famous in connection with the Gary school idea is not a faddist but an educator whose eyes are fixed on the growing life of a city child and not on a round of formal studies called education * * * The principle on which Mr Wirt is working is that the school should control a far larger share of the child's waking hours and then distribute them among the good cies which will do him most good * * *

Among these child welfare agencies Mr Wirt gives high place to the churches He is as ready to distribute children in groups to the churches for religious instruction as he is to send them to libraries As no public funds are involved in such a distribution and as the instruction in religion is not given in the public schools no laws governing secular education are broken Mr Wirt merely offers to send the children of any congregation provided the parent gives written consent to their respective places of worship during a certain hour from one day a week up to six days per week (for the Gary schools run on Saturdays) according to the capacity of each pastor to carry on instruction The public school makes no demands upon the masters for any special standard of instruction It proposes no tests of work done in the churches It gives no credit for such work There is merely the tacit assumption that the pastors will be sufficiently in earnest to use the time profitably The educational opportunity is given and the responsibility left with the religious authorities * * *

The new proposition came from the superintendent of schools in November last It was made to the ministerial association in Gary Each pastor made his own decision as to co operation In due time work was begun by several At present the Congregational minister is teaching about 25 children, the English Lutheran minister about 30 the United Presbyterian about 35 each one hour per week The Servian and Croatian Roman priests are also handling groups of their own having no parochial schools while the orthodox Jews are giving 60 children each six hours of instruction per week The Methodists are awaiting action on the part of their educational board which is expected to send a man into the field at a salary of $1 500 to give entire time to the work The Presbyterians Baptists and Disciples have not as yet commenced instruction All the teaching now under way is done by the pastors themselves

Our rector is at present teaching about 45 children all under the high school age in three groups giving each group two hours instruction per week There is a prospect that the total number of children could be increased to 75 or even 100 including a high school group The General Board of Religious Education has prepared for him a special curriculum outlining the work for each grade with suggestions of text books etc

But the task is too great to be successfully accomplished by the rector alone without assistance An expert teacher must be found immediately who could not only assist in the actual instruction but become a leader in the life of the young people of the parish and also be in charge of Sunday Schools in the fast growing outskirts of the city It is beyond the financial power of the parish to bear this added burden themselves They are already involved in parish debts Even the provision of the needed equipment for this week day instruction will tax them The diocese has manifested its interest and at a recent meeting of its bishop and clergy has pledged a certain amount of money toward the expenses of a teacher This amount however is far from the sum needed

The whole matter is entirely beyond mere local importance The experiment is one which if successful may easily become a precedent which all would be inestimable If the experiment fails because of poor results the opportunity of a generation and of a century almost would be lost The honor the educational repute the resourceful energy of the church are at stake.

If a suitable teacher can be supplied 100 children can be given five hours a week spielce in religious instruction grade by grade according to the most approved method What results could be won for the church in Gary what value such an experiment thoroughly tried would have for the church at large is beyond description here

PROPOSES TO RESIGN.

Rev. Arthur Crane Notifies the First Baptist Church Standing Committee.

Has Been Pastor Here During the Past Two Years, and Popular With His People.

Rev Arthur Crane pastor of the First Baptist Church has notified the standing committee of his intention to resign It is expected that he will present his formal resignation to the church next Sunday, to take effect May 1 next

Rev Mr Crane has been pastor of the First Baptist Church two years

REV ARTHUR CRANE

having been called on the resignation of the late Rev E A Johnson D D April 8 1912 accepting a week later and entering upon his work here May 5 of that year Since coming to Newport he has taken an active part in the evangelistic work of the city and has been prominent in the affairs of the State Association of which the church is a member

His resignation at this time comes as a surprise to the people of the church with whom he has been popular The members of his family have also been prominent in the affairs of the church

NEW OPERA HOUSE LEASE.

Vaudeville and Motion Picture Theatre With New Scale of Prices

Messrs Charles L Benson Walter L Bigelow and John L Shea representing the Great Eastern Amusement Company of Fall River came to Newport Wednesday afternoon Before their departure at 7 o'clock they had completed negotiations for taking over from the Rugen Amusement Company all leases properties and contracts for the Newport Opera House for a term of four years and will assume control of the theatre next Monday The Great Eastern Company manages five other theatres including three in Fall River—the Premier where vaudeville and motion pictures are presented, and the Palace and Globo devoted exclusively to motion pictures

It will conduct the Newport Opera House as a vaudeville and motion picture theatre until April 20 when the Miles Denison Company is to begin a season of 20 weeks Each performance will include four vaudeville acts and a number of pictures with one performance each afternoon and evening except Saturday evening when two will be given a change of bill being made on Thursday of each week The vaudeville acts will be booked by the United Booking office of the Keith circuit and several strong acts have already been secured The Famous Players pictures will be made a feature A new scale of prices—5 10 15 and 25 cents—will be introduced with reserved seats which can be engaged in advance

The engagement of Fine Feathers, for Saturday March 28 will stand and it is possible that other one-night engagements will be made of strong plays which may be on the road although the present state of the dramatic field does not apparently warrant any special attractions in this line

FOR COMMANDER HUBBARD.

Funeral Services to be Held Monday at the Arlington Cemetery

The funeral of Commander John Flavel Hubbard U S N who died January 10 at Hong Kong will be held next Monday at the Arlington cemetery Commander Hubbard who was in command of the Third division of the Atlantic fleet was in command of gunboat Wilmington, when he was taken ill He was relieved three weeks before his death and taken to a hospital on shore where he died from a complication of diseases His body was brought back to the United States on board transport Logan which arrived at San Francisco this week

Commander Hubbard was 46 years old and was born in Norwich N Y son of the late John Flavel Hubbard one time state senator He entered the Naval Academy in 1884 was on board monitor Terror during the Spanish war with the rank of lieutenant and attained the rank of commander October 3 1909 Previous to his assignment to the Asiatic station he was in charge of the Boston recruiting station He was also the naval representative at the two Boston exhibition meets He married Miss Emma Benham Macgregor who survives him with two children

Lieutenant Commander and Mrs Harry K Cage the latter a sister of Commander Hubbard will go to Washington Sunday to attend the funeral

FIRST MEETING OF TABS AND RESERVES

Those who go to the Father Mathew Society's hall this evening will undoubtedly see an interesting game of basket ball between the Father Mathew and Naval Reserves teams This will be the first time they have met and as each is confident of victory there is a promise of a contest which will be full of interest from beginning to end The teams will line up as follows

| Father Mathew | | Naval Reserves |

DESCRIBE THE ACCIDENT.

Several Witnesses Saw Miss Parker After Automobile Struck Her.

Divorce Granted in Cook Case on Ground of Cruelty and Neglect to Provide.

The case of Buffum, Admr. vs Smith proceeded in the superior court Wednesday afternoon, Judge Barrows presiding

Roland J Easton testified in explanation of a plat of the vicinity of Newport avenue and Broadway One point marked was a bay window in the white house, second north from Newport avenue, from which window a sight was taken by witness Broadway is about 82 feet wide. From the track to the curb is 13 feet. In cross-examination witness said he surveyed the locus himself, in preparation for the making of the plat

Before Mr Easton testified Probate Clerk Duncan A Hazard produced the record of appointment of Mr. Buffum as administrator on Miss Parker's estate and of his filing his bond

Deputy Sheriff Frank P King, who issues the automobile licenses, testified as to defendant swearing, September 2, 1910, that he owned the auto nobile

Inspector Tobin testified that October 30, 1910, defendant and Schaeffer reported an accident at the police station it was written out and read to them The number of the car, 3932 owner Robert Smith, etc, was in the report as read to them. Smith made no objection Schaeffer was driving the car from the garage to Smith's house corner of Broadway and Summer street.

Schaeffer told witness that he had run down a woman and taken her to the hospital at 9 40 a m on Broadway near Powel avenue She was part way under the car, he went ahead, picked her up and took her to the hospital That noon witness saw Mr and Mrs Smith with Schaeffer as chauffeur stop at Mr Sheffield's office Witness told Schaeffer he had a warrant for him This was in presence of Smith whom witness informed as to the nature of the warrant

The Smiths Schaeffer and Mr Levy went with witness to Smith's residence after which Schaeffer and witness drove to the garage About 5 30 p m Smith was at the police station and went surety for Schaeffer This was ruled out as irrelevant Mr MacLeod contended that in connection with other things it had some value and was allowed an exception

In cross-examination witness said the garage was on DeBlois street It was called Roland Arter's garage

Miss Gladys Kaull was next called by Mr MacLeod She lived on Broadway next Mr Perry's house Was at home and saw the accident, from the bay window (she indicated her position on the plat) She first heard the noise of emergency brakes, on a machine which was headed north nearly stopped about in front of Sanborn's entrance After it stopped she saw a woman lying in a heap on the ground The chauffeur had turned to look at her but was still in the machine Witness saw no more then Saw no electric car She called her mother, and going down stairs saw the woman taken away in the automobile did not recognize her

Mrs Lena Mathewson of Valley Falls testified that she was on the corner of Powel avenue at the letter box It was storming quite hard She saw a girl come down Broadway toward the letter box and post a letter then go back to the second tree Witness was waiting for a car and the girl stood there also Witness saw the automobile coming just below the Brown house on Powel avenue She looked for her car then back at the automobile Saw her car coming and stepped off the sidewalk. The girl did likewise Witness stepped back The automobile was coming right along Witness thinks she heard no horn or signal Noticed no change in speed of the automobile

Witness turned into Powel avenue and when she had gone some distance heard the brakes on the automobile Did not see the accident Both had umbrellas up when they stepped off the sidewalk Witness could not tell which way the rain was coming or which way the umbrellas were held Witness saw the woman step off the sidewalk, thought there might be an accident and went down Powel avenue because she did not wish to see it.

The girl had her umbrella up, looking towards the electric car Witness put one foot into the street and stepped back Witness had quite a time trying to show on the map where the automobile was when she stepped back on the sidewalk She said It was near the corner To many questions she replied I don't know She could not see where the chauffeur was looking, never noticed Does not think she saw the machine turn away from the sidewalk She did not have to step back very quickly on the sidewalk to avoid being hit When she stepped back, the machine was about eight feet from her

To Mr Sheffield she said she went some distance on Powel avenue before the brake was heard She was summoned here by Mr Sheffield's side

Agnes Lilzabeth Corcoran took the stand She was sweeping in Miss Parker's room at the Nurses Home on the second floor Saw Miss Parker go out She heard the brake when near the window Looked out and saw the machine just coming to a standstill and the woman back to in a sort of kneeling position about a yard back of the maching with her hair down The chauffeur jumped out to assist her The machine was near the iron pole in front of Sanborn's house Did not know who was hurt then She thinks the automobile was on the car rail when she saw it

William J Monteith, motorman for the Bay State Street Railway Company testified At Friendship street he saw an automobile stalled, and the chauffeur pick up Miss Parker and put her in the automobile which was

NO LONGER OF USE TO NAVY.

Modern Battleships Could Not Navigate Sound Entrance to New York.

Naval Officers Differ With Admiral Chadwick as to Advantages for a Naval Base.

Admiral Chadwick's letter in Wednesday's Daily News has brought forth much additional comment about the agitation for a large naval base on Narragansett bay, and many naval officers take exception to his opinion as to the desirability of New York, strategically, based on the fact of the two widely distributed entrances or exits in case of blockade in time of war.

It is a well known fact that, a few years ago, battleship Massachusetts was sent through Hell Gate and the narrow curved passage leading to New York from the Sound route, and that immediately afterward an order was issued from the Navy Department to the effect that commanders of battleships should never try this again without the consent of the Department According to naval officers now in active service, consulted today, this order has never been revoked Captain Henry N Manney, now a rear admiral (retired), was in command of the Massachusetts during her passage through this route, which at the time was looked upon as an experiment, the success of which may be judged from the order of the department

The Massachusetts is a ship of the second line, with an extreme length of 348 feet The new dreadnaught Texas which is to be the type of the immediate future has a length of 572 feet, and the present ships of the Wyoming class a length of 554 feet, while 10 battleships and cruisers, now in commission, are more than 500 feet in length What would be the result if any of these vessels should attempt to navigate the waters in question? It was stated today by an officer of the navy, well up in navigation, that in his opinion not even by the aid of tugs could the larger ships of today be steered about the curves threading the district in question.

Captain Roger Welles, commanding the Training Station, said last year during the visit of the House naval committee, that he considered Narragansett bay the best place, barring none on the Atlantic coast for a large naval base In making this remark he took into consideration the points of strategy as well as the exceptional value of Newport as a skilled labor centre

It has never been supposed by those familiar with the situation that the proposed base would actually border on the city proper, but that Narragansett bay as far north as the middle of Prudence Island would of necessity figure in the development

LEGISLATORS' MILEAGE.

Appropriation for Newport Historical Society Passed in House.

In the state senate Wednesday a resolution was introduced for the purpose of cutting down what is termed excessive mileage for the members of the legislature The action contemplates an amendment to the constitution Senator Pierce of Cranston is the author of the bill and says he is for honest travel expenses and if provided these will cause sufficient saving to put the country schools on a fine basis The daily mileage each year cost the state $1 300 extra last year The members receive eight cents a mile but the cost to them is a small fraction of this amount

In the house the appropriation bill was taken up and a number of sections were discussed. The impropriety of electing clerks of district courts who are not lawyers was condemned by the Democrats Appropriations for charitable societies were first taken up and passed. These included $500 for the Newport Historical Society but most of the organizations are located in Providence The Democrats attacked the item for the payment of the chairman and secretary of the Board of Control $6 000, asserting that the only claim the members of this board have to their positions is their political activity
